The economy of South Mississippi has made unparalleled progress in the last 25 years. Many factors have contributed to this growth.

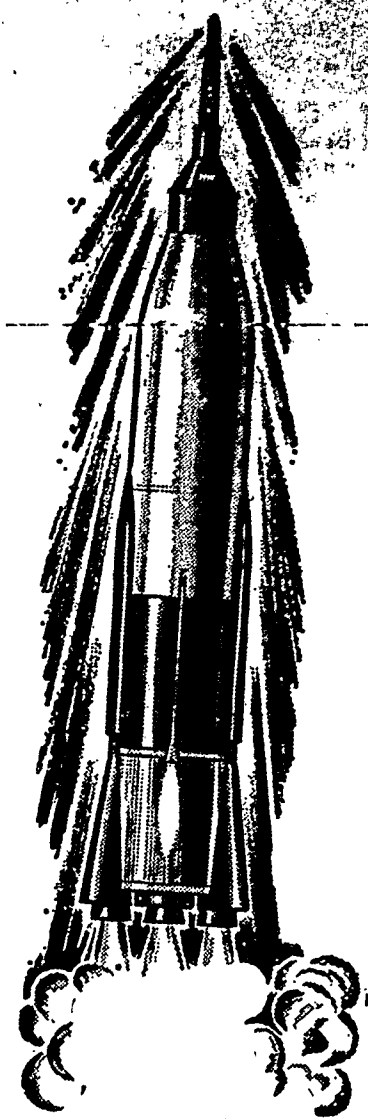

Coast Electric Power Association, with headquarters at Bay St. Louis, stands out as one of the leading contributors to this economic growth in both urban and rural areas of Hancock, Harrison and Pearl River Counties.

From a meager beginning when a few families and the Aaron Academy Church first received electricity on May 18, 1933, Coast Electric has grown into a major economic influence.

There is a direct parallel between the growth in number of miles of line of Coast Electric and the growth of the economy of the area it serves. Even more marked has been the increased business activity of the towns in the area which have reaped the benefits of a growing rural economy.

At first electricity in the area meant convenience and comfort. In the beginning there were the lights and the inevitable radio, followed by refrigeration and freezing of foods for storage; sanitary facilities provided by running water; flameless cooking and water heaters; and the work saving appliances and equipment such as washers, dryers, and other electric equipment on the farm and in the home. Then came television, fans, air-conditioning, electric heat and a myriad of small appliances and tools. As an outgrowth of these uses of electricity for convenience, necessity and comfort have grown the major elements: A higher standard of living and the resulting economic progress!

Coast Electric is completely owned and controlled by the people it serves in its three counties of operation. These members borrow money (which they are repaying with interest) to build their own lines and supply themselves with electricity. Profit power companies had said this could not be successfully done. Let's look at the progress which has been made since the first Coast Electric lines were energized on May 18, 1933—just 25 years ago—and you judge for yourself whether it "could be done" or not!

REPRESENTS

YEARS OF

IN HANCOCK, HARRISON

AND PEARL RIVER COUNTIES

In the 25 years since its beginning, Coast Electric's members have spent more than $20,000,000 in this area on electric appliances, wiring and fixtures alone.

From an initial loan of $72,000—long since repaid in full—the members of Coast Electric have seen their Association grow to an approximate $4,500,000 Corporation.

With modern electrical conveniences came pride in the home. Still more millions have been spent in painting, repairing and rebuilding. These things have been possible because of the increased income which has been the result of labor and time saving electrical equipment.

Coast Electric employs 54 people who live in Hancock, Harrison and Pearl River Counties, with a payroll of more than $280,000 annually.

All supplies and equipment are purchased in Hancock, Harrison and Pearl River Counties when they are available on the local market. For example, more than $500,000 has been spent for some 38,000 poles which grew, were cut, skinned and creosoted in this area to support the nearly 2,000 miles of Coast Electric lines. All vehicles and supplies are purchased from dealers in the three counties.

With the exception of the tourist industry, Coast Electric has in all probability made the largest single contribution to the economic growth of its area than any other factor. Certainly Coast Electric has been more influential in raising the standard of living of its members than any other contributing factor.

The more than 9,000 member-owners of Coast Electric are proud of the progress they have made in the last 25 years!

SCREW-WORMS

Continue to be on the lookout for screw-worms, advise Dr. Vernon Chadwick, State Veterinarian and L. J. Pate, Veterinarian in Charge, Agricultural Research Service, USDA.

A stepped-up program of eradication is underway with around 100 million sterile flies released each week over the area where the insect normally survives the winter.

All livestock owners and other people concerned with livestock are urged to be on the alert at all times to locate screw-worm infestations should they occur. Examine livestock regularly for wounds that could harbor screw-worm infestation.

If any type of larvae are found, collect a few specimens and turn them over to the local county agent or practicing veterinarian, state or ADE inspector so they can be forwarded to the state diagnostic laboratory for identification.

Early detection of any infestation that might occur will help prevent further spread and speed control.

Control measures where infestation are found will be those used in the past—intensive inspections and spraying of herds involved and all other herds in the immediate area.

PASTURE PRODUCTION

In many cases fertilizer is the key to higher production of pastures, hay and silage crops.

Low production of these crops is just not profitable. Labor is a big factor in growing pastures, hay and silage. Little extra labor is required for high producing crops than for low yielding ones. So, it makes economic sense to get as much mileage out of the available labor as possible. This is especially true with today's labor costs.

It would be good business to fertilize for high production if for no other reason than to cut down on labor costs. And, better quality always comes with higher production.

PERMANENT PASTURES

With less than normal rain, grasses and clovers have been slow to grow. This means short pastures and an exhausted stored feed supply.

Right now, one of the most important things you can do to help the situation is to fertilize the permanent pastures. This will help make for better summer grazing.

On many pastures a mixed fertilizer is needed and on others, where phosphate and potash were applied in the last year, only nitrogen is needed.

Fertilizing hay meadows will help boost yields to replenish supplies that ran out during the past winter.

SAFETY NOTES

Insecticides and herbicides are like matches and gasoline. They are useful and necessary, but must be handled with care.

Store farm chemicals in closed metal containers, clearly identified and labeled. Be sure to read and follow instructions on the label, observe all restrictions.

REGULAR MEETING

The Bay St. Louis Jaycees met last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. C. Koenen, with Mrs. Michael Haas, president, presiding.

Mrs. Marcia Hughes, home agent, presented a program on landscaping with bulbs.

Committees were appointed to work on a rummage sale to be given for the benefit of Hancock General Hospital Auxiliary to assist in the purchase of the positive pressure machine.

The recent Jaycee-Jaycette convention was the subject of discussion and it was announced that 31 Jaycees had attended, and they received the Woman's Mile award for having the largest number of members from the farthest distance attending.

Fish up to the hard rains of Sunday and Monday were striking at their best.

Speckles were being caught out in the marshes and at Half Moon. Bass and perch were being caught most everywhere. Don't think the rains really hurt, the waters too much. Local rains do not do much damage, it is when we have rains up state which cause Pearl River and its tributaries to get bad.

Inland lakes and ponds were effected a little by the rains but are clearing up rapidly.

Farmers and gardeners, benefitted by the rains as the recent drought has lasted for some time. Even the water pressure in town was on the low side.

Soft and hard crabbing remain good with handcrabbing improving all the time.

Among those reporting catching flounders the past week were Nicky Rauxet, Harry Favre, Emile Shindler, David Carter and others. The beach has been lighted up with lights most every night.

Luke Elliott and his dad spent the past week fishing for both salt and fresh water fish. Some swell catches was the result. Luke returned to Baton Rouge with some nice soft shell crabs caught Thursday and Friday nights.

Speaking of the folks who had to move due to the testing grounds in the county were Oswald Morin, Reudus Moran and Hiram Sealup. Catahoula way where we had many a hunting trip for doves. Reudus on talking about the old timers such as Bob Genin, Pete Caruso, Joe DiBenedetto, Herbert Wise, Judge Fayard, Brother Peise, Joe Bontemps, Bob Mitchell, Albert Hit, the McDonalds, Dec Elliott, August Rauxet, Oscar Brags, Tut Monti, etc., brought back many memories when doves were so plentiful they had to back up to take off. Hunting in these days was worth while. As doves are becoming scarce in Hancock County our grandchildren will have to visit a museum to see a stuffed dove.

A new launching ramp and skiffs for rent is being installed by Reggie Bossier at his restaurant, fishing camp and lounge on Highway 90 just across from Pearl River on the La. side. YOUTHFUL CHATTER

BY TONI BLAIZE

Well the time has finally arrived when we can say "adios," to those "great halls of learning," for many it's just a temporary period until September swings in with a bang!!

But for the members of the senior graduating classes these farewells will be final, in as much as being a product of these great halls, because they have after 12 long years, become finished products.

They all should be looked upon with great admiration, as well as consideration. Here stand the "63 grads, the future backbone of this great country in which we are privileged to live in.

Many look toward graduation as an end to many years of cracking the books, but actually it's just the beginning. These young adults are now being faced with their first big crossroads in life, which are many.

They have to decide what path they wish to be a part of, as their life's work is about to take form. Will they go into the medical fields, or will they be our future teachers, scientists, astronauts, lawyers, etc??? This is not for you or I to say.

We must keep in mind that we live in a land of freedom, where we as free people have a right to choose our life's work, no matter what it might be.

So may I express my personal congratulations to this year's graduates.

My best wishes to you always and may God's abundant blessings shower you.

Who knows one of you may be our future President in years to come.

Social Security

In observance of the first national Senior Citizens Month during May, Jerome H. Drane, Gulfport social security district manager, pledged a renewed effort on behalf of his office staff to maintain a high level of service to the public generally and to the aged residents of Hancock, Harrison, and Jackson Counties in particular.

Drane pointed out that President Kennedy's proclamation, designating May as Senior Citizens Month, urges all persons "to cooperate in its observance by increasing community awareness of the problems faced by older men and women, strengthening services and opportunities to meet their special needs, giving recognition to their past and present contributions, and making this special month the beginning of continuing interest and activity on their behalf."

Drane cited the latest benefit statistics for this area as evidence of the contribution senior citizens make toward economic stability in the community. He said more than 1393 Hancock county men and women over 65 receive social security monthly benefits which total more than $787,850 each year. "Studies show," he added, "that the senior citizen spends the biggest part of his income on food, clothing, and housing. And the number of people receiving benefits is constantly increasing as more people join the senior ranks each year.

Drane invited all non-retired workers over 65 to visit the social security office for a complete explanation of the provisions of the social security law as it applies in the individual's particular circumstances. And he urged senior citizens who are working while receiving social security to phone or visit the district office if they have questions about how their earnings will affect their benefits.

The social security office in Gulfport is located at 1022 32nd Ave., telephone UN-4-2022.

THE FAST PACE OF LIFE

You'll find lots of people concerned about the tempo of life today. But most of them simply catch a breath when they can, and try to keep up with the pace.

There is something more important!

The winner trains... and plans his race. He may lag behind for a while, but he is confident of hidden resources. When others have burned up their energy and enthusiasm, he forges to the front. As they wilt in the home stretch, he sprints across the finish line.

The Church can help you train... and plan! A Christian is concerned with his own spiritual stamina rather than the fast pace of life. He is ready with hidden resources when the moment of challenge comes.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a school of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, we cannot have a strong nation. Therefore, every citizen should consider the Church as a part of his own life. (1) For his own sake. (2) For the children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his work and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

May 19-26 has been designated as Soil Stewardship Week in Mississippi by Governor Ross Barnett, long-time farmer-cooperator with the soil conservation districts. The Governor discussed the proclamation at his Madison County farm with Henry Bridgforth, Vaughn (center) president of the Mississippi Association of Soil Conservation District Commissioners, and W. L. Heard, state conservationist, Soil Conservation Service. Angus in the background are part of the Governor's registered herd.

One of Mississippi's most prominent soil conservation district cooperators is Governor Ross Barnett.

The Governor admits he enjoys his Madison County farm. He hankers after the pine and green fields of his Leake County boyhood. But he doesn't intend to "retire to the farm." "You say I'm never going to retire," said the Governor emphatically.

"I come out here two or three afternoons a week," he continued, "eyeing a couple dozen head of sleek Registered Angus that browse the green pastures along the Natchez Trace entrance to his farm."

The Governor was conducting W. L. Heard, state conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, Jackson, and Henry Bridgforth, Vaughn, president of the Mississippi Association of Soil Conservation District Commissioners, over the farm as they discussed the ninth annual observance of Soil Stewardship Week.

The Governor signed a proclamation designating May 19-26 for the observance in Mississippi and urged all citizens, civic, religious, and farm groups, public officials, schools, the press, radio, and television to focus attention on the importance of soil and water conservation in Mississippi.

Governor Barnett has cooperated with the soil conservation districts for many years, and recently revised his farm plan. "I'll always back up the districts," he said.

FIVE CLASSIFICATIONS TO DETERMINE DRAFT STATUS

There are five general classes with numerous subdivisions which local boards use to indicate whether a man is available, deferred, or exempt - and why.

Every man is considered as available for induction, in Class I-A, until his eligibility for some other classification is established to the satisfaction of the local board.

If a registrant does not establish his eligibility for deferment or exemption because of hardship, occupation, study, Reserve or National Guard membership, or other reason, he is placed in Class I-A. In the normal case, a registrant in Class I-A will be ordered for an Armed Forces examination shortly before his time to enter service, to determine whether he is qualified physically, mentally, and morally. If he is not qualified, he is deferred in Class IV-F or Class I-Y. If qualified, he is kept in Class I-A until he is reached for induction.

Class I-Y means that the registrant is not qualified under current standards, but would be qualified in a war or emergency. Class IV-F means he is not qualified for any military service.

All registrants in Class I-A are divided into categories in an order of priority for induction. Local Boards in meeting their quotas first summon men who have been declared delinquent for failure to comply with the draft law. Next to be taken are men who volunteer for induction. Then the local boards complete their monthly quota by calling Class I-A qualified men between ages 19 and 28. They are called in the order of their dates of birth, oldest first. The present average age of call is about 23. This "average age" depends on how many men go in service. In a heavy mobilization, it falls.

Most available men are in this category and it is sufficiently large to meet the needs of the Armed Services under present conditions. If this category were exhausted local boards would next call men over 28, youngest first, and finally, men 18½ to 19, oldest first.
